Getting Started
Ins and Outs of Tech Showcases

Where to begin?

In short- a tech showcase is a visual aide for the Cappies Critics, some who may not have ANY technical background, to see what your design PROCESS was like. In order to help them understand your work, and show that you designed the production, we require that your tech showcase contains AT LEAST the following elements.

▸ Written explantation of concept and creative process. This could include the following.
  ❋ Beginning , Middle and End of creative process
  ❋ Ideas that worked, or didn't work and how you problem solved
  ❋ How you executed your ideas and how they linked to the production vision or concept
  ❋ Collaboration within the production community.
▸ Pictures of the body of work.
  ❋ Pictures of you and other crew members actually working on the design
  ❋ Pictures of the process and components of the design (renderings, plots, models, cue lab etc)

Make it Clear

Remember, Cappies don't have a ton of time to review your boards. Make sure the presentation is clean, clear, and well organized so they don't have to hunt for information.
